Please describe how you collaborate with others in a group with diverse perspectives?

Previous board experience has taught me that it's important to remember our work isn't personal. It's our job to make decisions on behalf of the residents we represent and it's healthy to debate and discuss issues. I believe all discourse can and should remain professional and if I'm engaging in active listening, I might learn something that changes my mind.

What particular strengths would you bring to this position?

I have served many roles where I must engage with many different personalities, some of which come with strong feedback. I have learned how to educate and engage without escalating tensions. I also know how to communicate my work which is essential considering 99% of residents won't attend meetings, but we still need to make an effort to keep them informed.

Please list any financial interests, business relationships, or family ties that could create a conflict of interest with this board's work:

none
